It's 'Cot Time Now

Campbell has been known as the "Orchard City" for many years. Despite the steady inroads made by subdivisions into the prune and apricot orchards in this locality, the name is apropos even today as the accompanying pictures taken by The Press testify. All the photos were taken either within the city limits or less than a mile away.

Apricot picking season went into full blast this week, following closely on the heels of the heavy winds which did considerable damage to the fruit-laden trees. The picture on the far left illustrates this. It was taken on Sunny Oaks.

The top center picture shows the cut apricots laid on the trays where they will be dried by the beaming sun. The picture was taken at the Leonard Dardanelli orchard, 650 W. Parr Ave.

Directly below is a scene of the cutting shed also at the Dardanelli place. All the cutters can not be identified in the photo, but in the shed when the picture was taken were, Annette Ratti, Bonnie McClung, Jill Treat, Virginia Stephens, Caroline Flaxbeard, Marilyn and JoAnn Betty Cummins, Danny Dardanelli, Bradley Hanson, Mrs. Leonard Dardanelli and her grandsons, Danny and Peter Dardenelli.

Three pickers on ladders almost hidden by the limbs of the tree, are shown on the right. On the ladders from the left are, Garth Long, 400 Sunny Oaks, Leo De Palma, 459 Sunny Oaks, Bob Carnesca, 497 Hacienda. That's the owner of the orchard, O. De Palma at 459 Sunny Oaks.

In the final picture, R. L. Dodge stands by his truck in the 10-acre apricot orchard (the old Curry ranch) on East Parr Ave. The truck is loaded with the lug boxes that the pickers have filled. They will be hauled to the cannery instead of being dried in the sun.

Post Office Business Shows Steady Increase

Campbell's post office, which has ended its last full fiscal year in its present location on E. Campbell Ave., showed more than an eight per cent gain in business over last year, Acting Postmaster Ellis Litynsky reported this week.

Mrs. Litynsky announced that the office did $83,700 in business for the year ending June 30 compared to $77,700 for the same period last year, a $6,000 gain.

The postmaster noted that $4,478 of this increase was made in the final six months of the fiscal year. (That is for the six-month period ending on June 30.) She added that under the monthly breakdown of the post office, both six-month periods included the Christmas business.

Mrs. Litynsky pointed out that Christmas business of 1956 exceeded that of 1955 by $1800.

Tuesday of this week was the deadline for the post office department to receive bids for the new postal building in Campbell to be located on First St. at Campbell Ave. at the rear of the old Methodist Church property. Plans call for a driveway onto Campbell Ave. as well as an entrance on First.

Post office officials expect to award the contract for the building within 30 days. The successful bidder must purchase the property, construct a building to post office specifications and then lease it to the post office for a 10 to 15-year period.

The Methodist Church property is now owned by Henry Jewell and Oliver Jensen who have given the department a land option agreement. Originally the post office department had planned to have a building constructed on Central Ave. but officials were prevailed upon to change the location when the church property became available.

Jensen, who is a general contractor, is reported to have submitted a bid for the post office building.

The move to the new location which will give the local office almost twice as much floor space as it has now became necessary because of continued increase in business. The report of the fiscal year just closed indicates that as yet there has been "no leveling off".

At the present time there are 26 full-time employees plus the postmaster at the local office. Fifteen are listed as carriers and 11 as clerical personnel.

City Budget Allows For Tax Rate Slash

Good news for taxpayers of the City of Campbell (and city employees) came out of the City Hall this week with the release of the tentative city budget for the fiscal year.

Expanded municipal services will be offered by the City during the present fiscal year ending June 30, 1958.

But the property tax will be lowered,

More personnel will be employed by the City than last year and all present employees will receive substantial salary increases.

But the City will operate on a lower overall budget than was in effect last year. ($362,793.71 compared to $383,156 last year).

This was revealed this week when the City Council unveiled the tentative city budget over which the City Fathers have been laboring for months.

Valuation Up

With the release of the assessed valuation figures for the City, showing $1,354,080 increase over last year, the Council announced the tentative budget.

The final adoption of the budget, however, still must wait until the assessed valuation figures of the public utilities are announced. The utility figures are not expected to offset the tentative estimates because the estimated amount has already been figured in.

Two major factors were involved in the lowering of the property tax rate, Mayor John M. Chargin, pointed out. First, Campbell will benefit from four full quarters in the sales tax revenues (last year only two quarters were received) and secondly, the assessed valuation of the City has taken a substantial hike.

Without utilities figured in, County Assessor Hayden W. Pitman announced last week that Campbell's valuation had risen to $9,788,200 compared to $8,434,120 last year (without utilities), an increase of $1,354,080. Last year the utility valuation was $858,680 and an approximate 11 per cent hike is expected this year.

Despite the lower budget of the City, an additional patrolman will be added to the department making a total of seven police now employed. A fulltime clerk will also be employed. At the present time the clerk is on duty only in the afternoons.

Better Traffic Control

Chief of Police Robert J. Locke explains that the additional man will make it possible for one man to be assigned to traffic control on a motorcycle during the day. Something that has not been practical under previous conditions.

Two new portable traffic-lights have also been authorized for better traffic control.

The department will consist of the chief, a sergeant (John Morgan), a patrolman partially assigned to investigations (Dick Mayne), and four other patrolmen, Officers Gordon Rooney, Carl Arnold, Don Burr, and Clyde Harris. Harris, the newest member of the force has been doing vacation relief and will continue on full time basis.

The Department of Public Works, responsible for street maintenance, will have two new men added to the department and thus will be able to give better service to the community. The budget also calls for the purchase of needed street equipment which will also facilitate the maintenance operation.

Sales Tax: $65,000

On the income side of the picture, property taxes are expected to bring $71,925 into the city coffers while the sales tax is estimated at $65,000. Business licenses are estimated at $13,000 and building inspection fees at $8,500. Fines are estimated at $17,000 with gas tax funds listed at $27,921. Another state subvention (chapter 20 funds) is estimated at $37,886.

One of the major improvements planned for the City, Mayor Chargin explains, is the extension of the storm drains east on Hamilton Ave. toward the Route 5 Freeway.

As has been the case for the past years, the city engineer's part of the budget because of the major improvements that have taken place, again takes a big slice. But much of the expenditures planned are offset by state subventions.—G.V.

INDUSTRY TO BUILD

A one-story building which will occupy 35 to 50,000 square feet is planned for E. Parr Ave., near Winchester Road in Campbell's new industrial park by the recently merged firms of Cascade Research Corporation and Lewis & Kaufman now in Los Gatos, according to Frank Mansur, general manager. It is expected that eventually 150-175 personnel will be employed there. Cascade Research purchased the 17-acre site some time ago. It is hoped that the building will be completed by February.

City Hikes Pay Of Employees

City employees will average between 8 and 10 per cent in salary raises as a result of the tentative budget that is in the process of being adopted by the City Council.

The biggest hike in pay goes to Chief of Police Robert J. Locke who goes from $475 to $553 per month. City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan's salary (300) is regulated by law. For other city services she will draw an additional $150 (a raise of $50). W. L. Morser now getting $450 will get $502 for the last 10 months of the year.

LeRoy Black, street superintendent, gets a $33 per month raise going to $429.50 per month. Deputy City Clerk Evelyn Adamson will receive $307 per month,, a $29 raise, while Police Sgt. John Morgan will get $438.50 per month next year. Top patrolman, in seniority, Gordon Rooney will get $392, while the newest patrolman, Clyde Harris, starts in at $355. The other patrolmen salaries range between them.

Two of the three regular firemen will receive $408.66 while the third will get $388.16. Chief Jack Scott will continue with his part-time administration of the fire department at a salary of $50 per month.

Another Industry Asks Planners OK on Tuesday

Another variance request for the new industrial park area that will be before the Planning Commission next Tuesday night will probably receive the same fate as similar ones have in the past. That is it will be delayed until the August 6 meeting of the Commission.

Floyd B. Day has applied for a variance in order to build a storage and equipment yard and office building at 805 Dell Ave. There are four other similar applications for potential buildings now before the Commission that have been continued until August 6.

No trouble is expected in the granting of the change of zone request of Richard Salice for property on W. Rincon Ave. Salice is requesting that the zone be changed from single family to multiple dwelling.

Another matter that is expected to get the full approval of the Commission Tuesday is the request of Philip Sondeno. The Commissions last meeting delayed giving its ok to Sondeno's plans for multiple dwellings at Sunberry Drive and Kamson Way because the residents who had originally objected to the plans were not present at the meeting.

The Planners are also expected to rule on the request of Eddie Heierle. He has asked that his candy confectionery be classified so that he will know in what zone he can set up shop.

The Planners received a letter this week from Alameda County Planning Commission commending their action in proposing a 'Controlled Manufacturing Zone'

"CM" Faces Test

Overshadowing other items on the agenda for the City Council next Monday night will be the first hearing on the adoption of the much discussed new "Controlled Manufacturing Zone" that is planned for the industrial park of Campbell.

Although the action will be limited to the actual putting the type of zone on the books and not applying it to any specified area, it is expected that those opposing its restrictions for their own particular area will be on hand.

A report on the controversial missing fence for the Nelson Bros. Trucking property based on the walk around the place that the City Fathers were to take is also expected. Final action by the Council on the matter will follow the report.

The tentative budget for the City will also be before the Council on Monday.

High School Gym Opens for Summer

As an added feature of Campbell's summer recreation program, the boy's gymnasium at Campbell High School will be open from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The program begins next Monday.

Hal Raley, a Campbell High coach, will be in charge. The gymnasium is available for all types of indoor activities including basketball and badminton.

"Buc's Cove", the youth center located on the high school campus, is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 7 to 10 p.m. Eighth grade graduates through high school graduates, who are members, may use the facilities of the senter. Dances and various forms of recreation are planned throughout the summer.

The most recent session of swimming instruction is given in beginning, intermediate and advanced swimming each Monday through Friday from 9:25 a.m. to 1:05 p.m. The pool is open for free swimming from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. This lasts thru July 19.

Adult swimming instruction is given Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. No sign-up is required. The pool is open for additional recreation swimming from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The Campbell Summer Music Program began Monday and lasts to August 16. Instruction is given Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon to students who are entering the fourth grade and above.

Thefts Involve Young Boys Here

Youthful suspects were being studied this week by the Campbell police because of two of three thiefts that had been reported to the department. In the third case the age of the suspect was still unknown factor.

A Cub Scout while swimming on Monday had his wallet 'lifted'. The wallet contained about $15 when it alledgely was taken in the locker rooms at the high school pool. The wallet later was found on the grounds of grammar school but without the money.

The mother of the little guy told police she had a good idea of who the culprit was.

In the other case where the "small fry" was involved, it was reported that a model aircraft engine had been taken Monday from the garage of Victor Bright, 463 W. Rincon.

A neighbor who was on the scene at the time reported that he saw another young boy. whom he didn't know, come into the garage and take the engine, knocking him down in so doing.

In the other petty theft of the week reported to the police Mrs. Edith Ames, 45 Kennedy, said that her car which was parked in the driveway had been broken into about midnight last Saturday. She reported that a blanket, a wrench and a book of Campbell Stamps had been taken. She said that her name was on the stamp book.

Sanitation Directors To Advertise for Bids

Advertising of bids for the construction of an office building and corporation yard in the new Campbell industrial park will probably be authorized tonight when the directors of the Sanitation District No. 4 meet.

Also on the agenda tonight is the proposed plan to replace the master agreement with the City of San Jose for Sewage disposal. Discussion of the new ordinance to replace the one now in effect wil also be held.

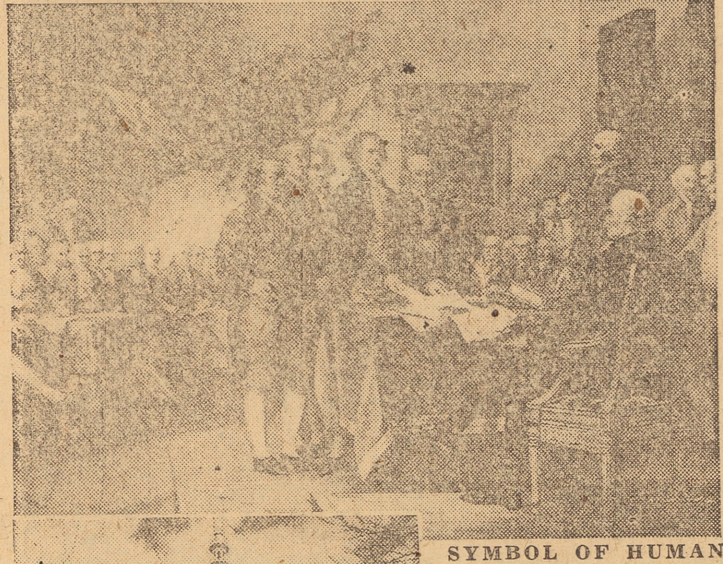
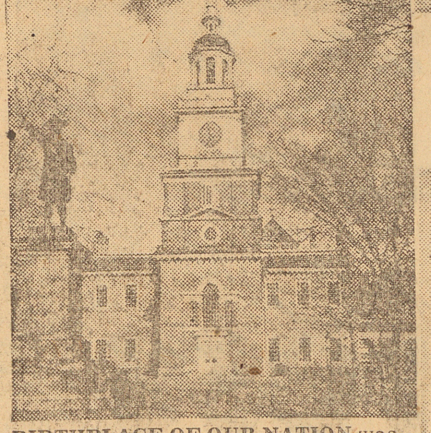
U.S.—Bulwark of Freedom

BIRTHDAY OF A FREE NATION as the Declaration of Independence was presented to Congress in 1776. Contrary to popular belief, this historic document was not signed by Congress on July 4th. Instead, the Act by which the original 13 states broke colonial allegiance to Great Britain was approved by Congress July 2, proclaimed on July 4th, and signed at various times up to Nov. 4.





BIRTHPLACE OF OUR NATION was Independence Hall, Philadelphia, where Continental Congress met, Declaration of Independence adopted and proclaimed, Washington appointed Commander-in-Chief.

SYMBOL OF HUMAN RIGHTS and freedom, the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall rang out at every festival and anniversary of Independence until it cracked in 1835.

Campbell Receives Auto Tax Rebate

The city of Campbell has received $38,945.26 in motor vehicle license fees from the State for the six-month period ending May 31 according to Robert C. Kirkwood, state Controller. The total revenue awarded to 340 cities and 58 counties in the State amounts to $91,422,144.

The distribution of funds is based upon population with the most recent apportionment levied at $4.80 per capita. Campbell's population, according to State figures, is 8118.

Vehicle license fees are levied at the rate of $2 per $100 of market value on each vehicle and the fees are assessed for the privilege of using the highways. Cities are required to spend the tax apportionment for state purposes including law enforcement and regulation and control and fire protection of highway traffic.

Taxes received by other cities in Santa Calra Valley and their population include Alviso, 652, $3127.90; Cupertino, 1746, $8376.25; Gilroy, 6019, $28,875.53; Los Altos, 19,545, $93,765.12; Los Altos Hills, 3138, $15,054.23; Los Gatos, 5071, $24,327.60; Milpitas, 834, $4001.03; Monte Sereno, 2343, $11,240.30; Morgan Hill, 1857, $8908.77; Mountain View, 26,023, $124,842.65; Palo Alto, 41,002, $196,702.85; San Jose, 128,407, 616,019.30; Santa Clara, 32,305, $154,979.90; Saratoga 15,069, $72,291.97; and Sunnyvale, 35,094, $168,359.83.

Record Budget Raises Moreland Teachers' Pay

The board of trustees for the Moreland Elementary School District granted pay raises for teachers of from $200 to $900 in its record $768,855 budget. The new pay hikes raise teachers minimum salaries to $4200 and the maximum to $7000.

Mrs. Gussie Baker, district superintendent, announced that the district tax rate will increase from $1.50 to $2.10 due to the increase. Voters approved the pay upgrade at an election last October.

The record budget is due to a 40 per cent increase in school enrollment and plans for a new seventh and eighth grade school on Campbell Ave.

The board appointed Mrs. Emily Bishop as teaching principal of Bucknall School. Robert W. Brydon was elected president of the board and Sam E. Manfre chosen to serve as clerk.

"Cut Right with Miterite"

Campbell Man Invents Device That Saves Carpenters Wood and Time

A Campbell resident and amateur carpenter has invented a device which will result in a 24 per cent saving of wood and time for amateur and professional tradesmen.

Gene Weiss, of 1459 Patio Drive, designed the instrument which has been named the "Miterite" and is used to correct angles for setting table and radial arm power saws. Weiss got the idea while making various articles with his table saw at home. Having difficulty figuring the setting for angles, and not being able to locate an instrument to perform this task, Weiss set out to invent a device and as a result, the Miterite was born.

The new calculator, which is presently being produced by Perrygraf Co. in Maywood, Ill., is simple and inexpensive. It consists of two pieces of heavy varnished stock mounted one on top of the other. An eyelet can be turned to a certain setting to give the correct answer.

Weiss' motto is "First cut right with Miterite."

Weiss and his family, which includes wife Myrtle and two daughters, Jacqui, 10 and Jill, 6, have resided in Campbell for 18 months. It was Jacqui who thought of the name Miterite.

Miterite Inc. has been established by Weiss and his wife with Michael Warholak of Hayward. The new company is currently all tied up with patents, lawyers, incorporation laws and advertising. The company plans to set up an office in Campbell.

The new time and money-saving device is technically described as a compound miter calculator for table and radial arm power saws. However, it isn't as complicated as it sounds and is simple to use.

The arrow on the center disc of the Miterite is set to the number of sides which are to be cut. Two openings cut in the center of the instrument are marked "miter angle" and "tilt angle". In these openings appear figures showing the correct readings for setting of the saw.

According to Weiss, it's as easy to use as a slide rule and accurate to the nearest one-fourth degree.

The inventor has demonstrated the device at home shows and to professional contractors who have found it very useful in their work.

The new instrument may prove to be a boon to amateur carpenters in this "do it yourself" day.

ROTARY GOVERNOR . . . Monroe F. Brown, governor of District 513 of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to each of the 51 Rotary clubs in his district, will speak to the Campbell Rotary Club next Monday. He will also confer with Neal Royer, local club president, and Forrest A. Reese, secretary, on club activities. Brown, who operates an insurance agency in Burlingame and San Mateo is past president of the Burlingame club.

GOSPELAIRES QUARTET . . . nationally known singing group heard every Sunday morning over Radio KMJ, Fresno, will appear at Calvary Temple, 130 Railroad Ave., Sunday, July 14, at 7:45 p.m. The public is invited to attend the program. Shown above are Ray Cooper, pianist and first tenor; James Farmer, second tenor; Ronnie Smith, baritone; and Don Smith, bass.

Certified mail is up to 20 cents from 15 cents. Money orders also have been increased. The new charge will be 15 cents up to $5. From $5.01 to $10, the charge is 20 cents and from $10.01 to $100, 30 cents.

Campbell Postmaster Ellis Litynski announced the post office has received two new postal delivery trucks with convenient right hand drives.

No Need to Change Sets This Way

Jesse James Bites Saloon Floor in Kids' Version of His Life Story

Jesse James and his band of outlaws once again died an ignoble death when 13 youngsters on the 1000 block of McBain Ave. recently put on the "True Story of Jessie James" for their families in the back yard of the Howard Melchors, 1061 McBain Ave.

After a solid month of individual research into the bandit's life story and the guidance of both Mr. and Mrs. Melchor, the kids, ranging in age from 3 to 10 and costumed appropriately presented their version of what really happened, for a price; 10c for adults and 5c for children. The money collected is to be used for a neighborhood weinie roast.

The idea for a play took form a little over a month ago during a "quiet hour" mothers in the neighborhood inaugurated this summer to allow them a few minutes relaxation every afternoon. The youngsters usually gather at the Melchor home for a session of coloring and follow it up with a dip in the back yard pool.

The children decided a "western" would provide the most action and finally settled on the Jesse James story, enlisting the aid of the Melchors whom they swore to secrecy. Not a word was to be revealed to parents; it would be a surprise performance.

The kids wrote their own play, made their own sets, and designed their own costumes, with the help of Mrs. Melchor and her sewing machine.

On the evening of the play, the sheriff was resplendent in chaps and boots, two guns hung low, and a vest covered with stars and buttons. Since most of the action took place in a saloon, the bartender, barmaids, Jesse James and his outlaws were appropriately garbed in "gay nineties" costumes. The saloon even featured barmaids, a line of "Can-Can" girls, aged 5 and 6, and a vocalist, who sang "Frankie and Johnnie".

The action was fast and straight to the point. All cowboy and bandit characters strode to the bar and announced they'd "had a tough day". Jesse James was found cheating at cards and, while wrestling with the sheriff, shot in the chest. Nobody considered it amiss when the doctor arrived and proceeded to pound on Jesse's foot with a hammer and wood block in an effort to help him, or when the doctor told the sheriff the second bandit killed was Jesse's "left-hand partner."

After the show was over, parents were served punch and cookies while the kids shed their costumes in favor of bathing suits and then put on a "water ballet".

Word of the show and its howling success spread through the neighborhood and as a result the kids have been asked to do a repeat performance. This they plan to do in about a month.

Budding thespians and their respective roles in the show were: Ronnie Coscarelli, Jesse James; Edward Struss, Jesse's "left-hand" partner; Richard Silva, the doctor; Milton Melchor, the sheriff; Joe Coscarelli, the bartender; Susan Alessio, Marlene Struss, Lila Struss, Jean Chargin, Can-Can girls; with Jackie Struss as dance soloist; Susan Moots, vocalist; and Sherrie Moots and Janet Alessio as barmaids. . . . State Fair Gets $20 Million from Legislature for Purchase of Site

Capitol News Service

While California taxpayers bleed trying to provide enough money for the schools of the state, Governor Goodwin J. Knight signs measures appropriating a total of $20,494,686 for the California State Fair and Exposition, which is more than half the amount provided by the legislature for additional school money.

The Fair appropriations, which can be called appropriations despite the intricacies of the financing provided, are to start the construction work on a new state fair site the people bought several years ago off the freeway between Sacramento and Roseville, on U.S. 40.

Diretors of the fair claim that only a new site will permit the exposition to make money, or at least break even. They say that the present fair site, now located in Sacramento proper, has outlived its usefulness; that it is too small to accommodate the huge crowds wanting to see the exposition and that parking facilities are inadequate to handle the people.

No doubt all of this is true. But it is also true there is no more assurance the fair will break even financially in the new site than there is speculation that the transfer will turn out to be a $33 million dollar white elephant for the taxpayers of California. For the ultimate cost of moving and constructing a new site originally was figured at $33 million. This figure, of course, will get higher as the years pass and prices increase.

The new fair will get $3,747,843 next year, and a like amount the year after from horse racing funds. This is a special fund, and has nothing to do with the general fund of the state, except the horse race tax could be used to implement the general fund if the legislature happened to vote that way instead of sinking the pari-mutuel profits into white elephants.

Then another bill provides for the sale of $6,500,000 worth of revenue bonds for two successive years, to be repaid from the income of the state fair. With interest rates constantly increasing and the bond market glutted with school bonds, and various other municipal bonds, it is difficult to see how sale of an issue for a losing proposition (the fair costs the taxpayers from $600,000 to $1 million a year), will find much acceptance.

Of course, there could be an unknown market for the bonds, consisting of the businessmen of Sacramento, the hotels and others who annually profit from the influx into the capital city during fair week. There might also be a market from the motels which double their rates to the unsuspecting fair-goer.

In any event, after several years of quibbling over whether or not to move the fair and open up more than 200 acres of choice subdivision land in Sacramento, the new exposition is on its way, and the people of California are scheduled to give it a chance to prove that the original estimates were right, i.e., that the fair can break even if it goes to a new site.

Fatigue Causes Accidents, Claims Highway Patrol

Fatigue and sleepiness are definite accident causing factors in traffic says the California Highway Patrol.

"Last year in California we averaged 270 fatal and injury traffic accidents per month charged to drivers apparently asleep, or where fatigue was an element", Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell declared.

"Fatigue and sleepiness are generally the result of excessive hours of driving or driving without sufficient rest or sleep prior to the trip," Caldwell stated. "The control of this problem obviously, adequate sleep and rest plus less travel hours on long trips.

"If it is necessary to drive long hours, share your driving and stop frequently so you can get out and stretch," he concluded. "A substantial breakfast but no heavy meals during the driving hours and a good night's sleep will help you stay alert and prepared to avoid the hazards of fatigue and sleepiness behind the wheel."

There are two kinds of men who never amount to much—those who cannot do what they are told and those who can do nothing else.--Cyrus H. K. Curtis

Bill Would Provide Aid for Disabled

A new bill providing relief for the "needy disabled" is before Gov. Knight this week. If passed, it will become the fifth type of relief provided in California.

The bill also provides for an increase in the pensions of the needy aged from $89 a month to $105 a month.

In Santa Clara County, 16,847 persons—3.5 out of every 100 in the County—are receiving some type of public assistance These payments amounted to $936,341 during the month of April.

The largest single group on relief in the County is the needy aged group which comprises 6450 persons. This category received $490,452 during April.

Should the new relief bill pass, it will cost the State, counties and federal government about $18,700,000 during the first nine months of operation.

Legislators Make Plenty of Work For State Printer

Capitol News Service

The state's printing plant in Sacramento ground out 104,546 type pages of bills and publications during the just-completed session of the legislature.

More than 550 tons of Linotype metal were involved before all of the clean-up work is completed. State Printer Paul E. Gallagher estimates it would require a shelf 33 feet long to house one single copy of all material printed for the 1957 session.

About 375 tons of paper will go into the production by the time all the work is completed.

The printing work included 72,248 type pages of publications for the legislature, including 44,954 type pages for histories, 13,916 for the daily files and 13,378 for daily journals. Original bills required 13,992 type pages, while amended bill required another 18,306 type pages.

Evidence of the increasing work load of the legislature is the comparison of the total of 104,546 type pages in 1957 with 84,787 in 1955 and 77,263 in 1953.

The printing plant's work is by no means finished as it must print the chaptered bills after they are signed by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, final histories, digest, statutes, and revised editions of all codes.

Total aid paid throughout the State during April was $30,602,000 to 535,180 persons. This represents almost four out of every 100 persons in the State.

How goodness heightens beauty!—Hannah More

"OVER-WATER" ROAD OPENS

The northbound lanes of the 4.2 mile Bayshore Freeway "over-water" project from Candlestick Point to Sierra Point, will be opened to traffic today. Construction will still be in progress, however, on the southbound lanes which are to be placed into service approximately three weeks later. Motorists are urged to drive with caution and to be alert for any temporary construction delays along this portion of the route.

I shall never permit myself to stoop so low as to hate any man.—Booker T. Washington

GOLF COURSES OK

The golf course bill has been signed into law by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight. The bill, AB1908 by Assemblyman Lester McMillan (D-Los Angeles) permits county boards of supervisors to issue revenue bonds to finance acquisition and maintenance of public golf courses, including necessary facilities, but prohibits condemnation of existing private golf courses for this purpose.

Hating people is like burning down your own home to get rid of a rat.

—Harry Emerson Fosdick

ELIMINATE GADGETS

Those baby shoes, county fair trinkets or oversized dice have got to go, from rear view mirrors in automobiles. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight has signed into law AB1991 by Assembly Thomas Ress (D-Beverly Hills), which prohibits driving an automobile when and object is so placed as to obstruct the driver's clear view of the road through his wiindshield. Advocates of such auto trimmings have until September 11 to rid themselves of the gadgets, as that's when the new law will take effect.

Many Boat-Towing Motorists Break Traffic Laws

Many motorists towing boat trailers with passenger cars and pick-up trucks are violating traffic laws according to the California Highway Patrol:

"This is probably due to lack of adequate knowledge of the rules and regulations particularly by new owners of small boat trailers," Patrol Commissioner, B. R. Caldwell stated.

Enforcement action will be taken against all violators, therefore the following are essential points to be reviewed by persons towing these trailers with passenger cars or commercial vehicles weighing under 4,000 pounds.

1. Maximum speed is 45 miles an hour unless a lower speed is posted.
2. One red tail lamp, a license plate lamp, one red reflector and a stop lamp are required on each vehicle.
3. Clearance lamps are necessary if the vehicle or load exceeds 80 inches in width.
4. Mechanical or electric turn signals are required if hand and arm signals are not clearly visible from the rear.
5. Hitches must be properly and securely mounted, with a legal safety chain to control trailer if hitch fails.
6. The trailer is required to follow substantially in path of towing vehicle without whipping or swerving.
7. The towing vehicle must be equipped with a mirror reflecting a view of the highway 200 feet to the rear.

Campbell's champion swimmer, Steve Skold, continued to establish new aquatic records winning the 100-yard freestyle and 100-yard butterfly events at a Southern Assn. AAU meet held in Santa Monica over the Fourth of July.

Steve tied his national record in the 100-yard freestyle swimming the distance in 51.6. His time of 57.8 in the butterfly event also was a new record for the Santa Monica pool.

Roz Skold, Steve's sister, placed fifth in the 100-yard freestyle swimming the event in 1:06.3, her best effort to date.

Steve now holds pool records for the 100-yard freestyle in three different pools—Campbell, Santa Clara and Santa Monica.

LOW DOWN ON SPORTS

By Marvin Moore

Pierce Wins

The Chicago White Sox beat the Cleveland Indians 5 to 1 giving Billy Pierce his 12th win with six losses.

Yankees Hold Lead

The N. Y. Yankees playing just a single game Sunday hold onto a 2½ game lead for the American League.

Seals Take Series

The San Francisco Seals took the series from the Portland Beavers to hold first place in the P.C.L.

Is Tradition Right?

It's a Baseball Tradition that says the teams leading the pennant races on July 4th meet in the series six times out of ten. This would mean the New York Yankees and Cincinnati. This was my prediction at the beginning of the season.

It's the 22nd time the Yankees have been the July 4th leader in modern times and only four times have they been dislodged in the second half of play.

Cincinnati's lead is shaky. The Redlegs were ½ game and four percentage points up on St. Louis, ½ game and six points on Milwaukee and 2½ in front of Brooklyn, but I can still hope.

Incidentally my S. F. Seals are on top in the P.C.L., but we won't mention the C.B.L.

TWO REAR LAMPS

All motor vehicles, other than motorcycles, will be required to have two, rather than one, rear lamps after January 1, 1958, under tetrms of a bill signed into law by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight. The bill, AB3164 by Assemblyman Frank Lanterman (R-La Canada) permits the lamps to flash to indicate turns and requires them to indicate application of brakes.

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

REMINDERS

1. When it comes to plant material, the best is the "cheapest". Why spend time, effort and material growing plants of poor vigor or inferior strains?

2. You can plant all types of container grown trees and shrubs at this time.

3. Lawn moth damage can be readily stopped by the application of Dieldrin or Chlordane.

4. Watering is of the utmost importance during the summer months. The water should penetrate deeply to the full extent of the root system.

5. Fuchsias and Tuberous Begonias are heavy feeders and should be fertilized at frequent intervals.

Flowering Plants

Here's a new way to add new sparkle to your garden and at the sametime make your gardening chores much easier.

Plants in containers is the key, advises the California Association of Nurserymen, and these summer days are a fine time to begin a container garden.

Flowering shrubs such as Camellias, Azaleas, Rhododendrons and Gardenias make beautiful container subjects. The exotic and colorful Hibiscus also grows well in containers when placed in a warm corner or against a warm wall. For container grown flowering trees, choose from the Crabapple, Cherry, Plum and Crape Myrtle. They will be enjoyed for the shade they provide in summer as well as for the beauty of their spring flowers.

Perhaps you have had a yearning to grow your own citrus fruit. You can do that and grow a plant in a container at the same time, for dwarf citrus trees make excellent container subjects. Choose from the many varieties of oranges, grapefruit, lemons, limes and tangerines, all of which offer beautiful and fragrant blossoms as well as evergreen foliage and delicious fruit!

Another style of planting with a container is to grow a climber or vine in a container set against the side of a building. This is particularly suitable in a concrete patio. Many of the flowering vines are also fragrant and these make delightful plants for a patio area where you and your family spend leisure time.

On warm summer evenings you can enjoy the perfume of the Burmese Honeysuckle (Lonicera hildebrandiana) or the Chilean Jasmine (Mandevillea suaveolens). For full sun Bougainvillea is among the most colorful of vines, growing in all shades of red, pink, orange and purple. Ivy in its many forms can also be started in a container and then trained against a trellis or wall.

Roses, coonsidered queen of all flowering plants by many gardeners, are excellent container plants. The tree and floribunda types are the best suited Rose types for tub or box planting.

For a change of pace in your garden, try container gardening on your patio or terrace. Your nurseryman will have many excellent suggestions for the plants to grow in your locale. Once you have begun container culture you will find it is a most interesting way to garden, especially suitable for gardeners with limited ground space.

Summer Care For Lawns

Few sights are so pleasing to the eye as a cool green expanse of lawn, during a hot summer day. If your lawn is anything but a cool green expanse, don't despair, for chances are you can correct the trouble in no time at all!

There are four main reasons for an unattractive lawn: Lawn moths, packed soil, fertilizer burn, incorrect watering method. Lawn moths, trouble number one, lay their larvae in the lawn; when the baby moths emerge from the eggs they immediately begin eating the roots. There are many excellent sprays and dry compounds to apply to your lawn to eradicate this lawn pest. Apply sprays with a sprinkling can or hose attachment. Do not water the lawn a few days before spraying.

Packed soil is a common cause of lawn trouble, especially in areas where adobe or clay soil prevail, which includes much of the area being gardened in California. Packed soil can be corrected by spiking with a hand spiker or by applying a dry or liquid soil-conditioner. Work the dry chemical corrector into the soil with a rake and then water thoroughly.

Fertilizer burn is the result of incorrect fertilizing methods. Always follow the directions on the package of fertilizer; never fertilize a wet lawn but apply the fertilizer when the grass is dry and water heavily immediately afterward. If you do burn the grass in fertilizing soak the area burned thoroughly to flood out the extra fertilizer.

In watering the lawn always use a stationary sprinkler. Watering by hand is inadequate, for few gardeners have the patience to hold a hose long enough for the water to penetrate to the grass roots. Encourage the formation of deep roots in your grass lawn by watering thoroughly, deeply and at regular intervals. When grass roots are deep they draw nourishment from the ground as well as from above.

Trees For Summer Shade

The most obvious reason for planting shade trees is to enjoy the shade they give during the heat of the summer, but there are several other reasons for planting summer shade trees, says the California Association of Nurserymen. Trees enhance the line of a house, set off a building, make the house and yard look finished and well planted. Trees on property increase its monetary value.

There are many shade trees in the evergreen and deciduous classes that make healthy, attractive plantings in most areas of the state. Among evergreens, the Magnolia grandiflora or Southern Magnolia is a fine shade tree, growing to 80 feet with a 40 foot spread, white flowers and glossy green foliage. The dwarf variety of the Southern Magnolia (M. g. St. Mary) resembles its larger cousin in every way but size, and makes a fine planting for a small garden or yard.

The Eucalyptus family includes several attractive evergreen shade trees, including the Scarlet Flowering Gum (Eucalyptus ficifolia) which bears brilliant red flowers and grows to a moderate size.

Others include the Dollar leaf (E. Polyarthemus) and the Pink Ironbark (E. Sederoxylon rosea).

Deciduous shade trees include three of the most beautiful trees for California gardens and yards: the Maidenhair (Ginkgo Bilboa) the Sweet Gum (Liquidambar styrafiflua) and the Chinese Pistache (Pistachia Chinensis) The Maidenhair has fanshaped leaves that turn a golden yellow in the fall; it is slow-growing long-living and attractive in its habit of growth. The Sweet Gum features large maple-like leaves that turn autumnal shades in the fall. A very striking tree, the Chinese Pistache, has leaves that turn yellow, gold, orange and red in the fall.

Over Half of State's Population Under Age 40 Have Received Polio Shots

More than one-half of California's population under the age of 40 has received some protection against paralytic polio since the vaccine became available two years ago, according to Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, state health director.

He reporoted that since April, 1955, a total of 9,714,156 shots have been given to persons under the age of 40, the population of highest polio risk. It is estimated there are some 8.7 million persons in this population.

First shots have been given to 4,902,538 Californians, or 56 per cent of the risk population; 3,714,010, or 43 percent have received second shots, and 1,097,608, or 13 percent, have received the important third shot, reported the director.

Under Age 20

Of the total inoculations given, 3,987,301 first shots were in youngsters under the age of 20 Emphasis was placed on this age group until March of this year when the State Legislature appropriated $3,000,000 for the purchase of vaccine to extend the vaccination program to all persons under the age of 40.

The first shots given in the 0-19 age group, reported Dr. Merrill, represent an impressive 85 percent of the youngsters. In addition, 3,157,638, or 65 percent, received second shots, and 1,055,235, or 13 percent, were protective third shots.

In the 20-39 age bracket, with an estimated population of 4,019,402, a total of 1,512,564 shots have been given in the few months during which adults have been eligible for vaccination. Of that total, 913,237, or 23 percent of this age bracket, has had first shots; 556,372, or 14 percent, have had second shots, and 42,373, or one percent, third shots.

The director pointed out that until the state vaccine was made available in March for all persons under 40, vaccine supplies provided by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the federal government were restricted to use in Californians under the age of 20.

Dr. Merrill said the late start in adults accounts readily for the small number of third shots since there must be a seven-month interval between the second and third inoculations.

Three Shots Needed

"Full protection against paralytic polio cannot be obtained unless the full series of three inoculations is completed," the director declared.

He stressed again the importance of young adults in the 20-39 age group seeking vaccination, pointing out that 48 percent of the paralytic polio is now occurring in young adults and preschool children.

"In most instances the preschoolers are the children of these young parents. And unless these young parents are stimulated to seek vaccination it probably can be concluded that their young children also are not being protected against paralytic polio."

He added, "Although a shortage of vaccine still exists in some areas of California, these young parents should assure themselves and their children of vaccination as quickly as possible, either in public clinics or from their private physician. Much sorrow and anguish can be avoided through vaccination."

When Utilities Are in

Campbell to Pass $10 Million Mark In Assessed Valuation This Year

Exclusive of public utilities, Campbell's assessed valuation is $9,788,200 compared to $8,434,120 in 1956-57. Last year the utilities were assessed at $858,680.

Thus Campbell's total valuation will pass the $10 million mark this year. In 1953-54 the assessed valuation was $5,758,670 to give some idea of the terrific growth of the area.

Each year the valuation has steadily climbed. In 1954-55, it was $6,931,340 and in 1955-56, $7,390,450. Without utilities the county assessor's office figured the jump in assessed valuation throughout the county would be about 14.56 per cent. Taxable valuation for the entire county jumped from $683,747,230 last year to $776,467,140 this year.

New industrial and commercial developments throughout the county are credited with the bulk of the valuation increase.

City of San Jose climbed to a new peak of $226,165,100, an increase of $32,246,320 over last year.

Exclusive of utilities, taxable valuations for cities other than San Jose and Campbell are as follows. Last year's figures are in parentheses.

Alviso, $1,649,290 ($1,542,750); Campbell, $9,788,200 ($8,434,120); Cupertino, $3,434,030 (3,003,690); Gilroy, $7,577,120 ($6,947,840); Los Altos, $28,393,790 ($24,829, 960); Los Altos Hills, $7,184,380 ($6,080,710); Los Gatos, $9,648,870 ($8,313,810); Milpitas, $13,727,530 ($12,814,890); Morgan Hill, $2,039,400 ($1,789,040); Mountain View, $32,083,440 ($26,408,900); Palo Alto, $90,940,650 ($80,177,100); Santa Clara, $60,685,330 ($49,141,370); Sunnyvale, $53,633,490 ($42,537,440).

The first assessment for the new City of Saratoga was $17,661,300.

Property valuation in unincorporated areas showed a slight drop from $217,806,830 to $211,855,220.

Juvenile Officer Speaks to Rotary

Guest speaker at Monday's meeting of the Rotary Club was Robert Nino, of Santa Clara County Juvenile Probation Department. Nino spoke on "Juvenile Problems in Santa Clara County", outlining his department's methods for helping youths with whom it comes in contact.

Nino also told of the department's minimum security ranch near Madrone where boys raise their own food and livestock and learn to become useful citizens. About fifty percent of the first offenders, he said, profit from their experience and are never heard from again.

THE JUDGE AT WORK

The judge has many duties in a trial.

He sees that it goes in an orderly way and according to the rules—in selecting the jury, presenting evidence, hearing the lawyers' arguments, instructing the jury, and bringing in the verdict.

Before the trial starts, the judge sees that the questions put to prospective jurors are proper. He excuses jurors. He must see to the proper conduct of the litigants, lawyers, and witnesses. He must put down public disturbances.

The judge must see that the lawyers keep within due limits in questioning witnesses, in arguing to the jury, and in their attitudes toward each other and the judge.

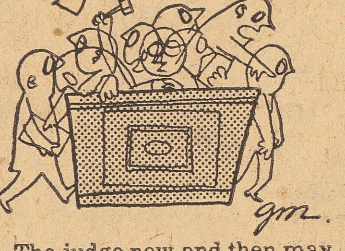
The judge tells the jurors their duties and what questions of fact to decide. He instructs them on what law controls the rights of the parties. He sees that the verdict is due in form. He must decide any requests for rulings by lawyers.

For example, after the plaintiff's lawyer has made his opening statement or presented his evidence, the defendant's lawyer may move for a judgment of "nonsuit."

This motion grants the plaintiff's facts but denies their cogency as a matter of law. If granted, the motion will not allow the plaintiff to recover judgment.

A directed verdict also ends the case before the jury can decide it. It is a decision by the court on a question of law. Either plaintiff or defendant may concede the facts but deny, as a matter of law, their power to sustain the other party's case.

A judge may render a "judgment notwithstanding the verdict" after the jury has brought in its verdict, when he should have granted, but mistakenly denied, a directed verdict.



The judge now and then may rule on the law and thereby take the suit out of the jury's hands. His ruling in no way reflects on the jury, but works to keep down needless litigation. When he does this he usually expresses the sincere thanks of the court for the time of the jury in standing ready to do its work.

Basks in Sunshine

Dutch Visitor Compares Life in Holland with the United States

By Vivian Faulkner

The thing Mrs. Marie Ver Boon of Holland likes best about the United States is its weather. According to her, the United States, especially California, is heaven after living in Holland where there is three weeks of rain for every sunshiny day.

In spite of the rain, she said, Dutch housewives still wash their windows each week and scrub down the street in front of their houses, just as their ancestors did in centuries past.

Mrs. Ver Boon is visiting at the home of the Herman Nootebooms of 452 N. Milton Ave., whom she knew in Holland before they moved to Campbell nine years ago. Both families lived in the town of Vlaardingen near Rotterdam.

Although she does not speak a word of English, Mrs. Ver Boon managed to convey a great deal of information about her native country through Mrs. Nooteboom who acted as her interpreter.

Cost of living, Mrs. Ver Boon said, is four times higher in Holland than in the United States although rent is cheaper, the average apartment renting for about $50 per month in American money. The higher cost is in groceries, clothing and furniture. As an example of food cost, she quoted the price of one egg as 22c.

Mrs. Ver Boon observed that her country, like the United States is in the midst of a building boom, mostly apartments and all of them of brick or stone. No wood or stucco for the Dutch.

The last few years, she said, the Dutch have been giving thought to the plight of their elderly citizens and doing something about it. Modern city-owned apartments, nine stories high have been erected for them exclusively. Rent for a one bedroom, kitchen and bath is just $12 a month and utilities are free. In addition, each building has laundry facilities and a large recreation room with TV and some sort of entertainment planned for every night.

There are also separate buildings for single elderly persons, men and women. The city fathers have even made provision for the ill and the invalid, giving them free housing and food and complete medical care under the socialized medicine plan now in force in Holland.

Asked about windmills and wooden shoes, Mrs. Ver Boon said farmers still use the windmill to create power to grind wheat but wooden shoes are not worn so much anymore. The exceptions are the farmer in and around small towns. The shoes were worn originally because they were cheap to make, warm, and best for keeping feet dry in wet weather.

Some of the people in small out of the way villages still wear the native costumes, she added, but as a rule, only on festive occasions.

There's no argument with junior over the family car in Holland. Cars are few and there is no speed limit but traffic is congested just the same; every body rides bicycles.

The Dutch have TV with no commercials. Every family owning a TV set pays $30 a year tax to pay the cost of programs which Mrs. Ver Boon says are not as good as ours. Her favorites are Lawrence Welk and Liberace.

On July 12 Mrs. Ver Boon leaves for Canada to visit a daughter for a few weeks before returning home. On her way to California, she stopped off to see another daughter in New Jersey.

When home in Holland, she plans to apply for re-entry into Canada and eventually the United States where she wants to make her home.

California produced 376,580,000 pounds of condensed and evaporated milk in 1955.

Garden Club Plans Outing

Plans for a picnic and tour of Antoinelli Begonia Gardens at Capitola were formulated at the July 2 meeting of the Campbell Garden Club which was held at the home of Mrs. John Prolo on Robbin Lane.

All members planning to make the trip will meet at Lee Brothers Market on Winchester Road Wednesday, August 7, at 9:30 a.m. For further information call Mrs. Helen Taylor, FR 8-3126.

Other business included discussion of the club's annual garden project at the county fair

After the business session, flowers brought by members were made into French bouquets and delivered to patients at the state hospital.

Official Visits Rebekah Lodge

Escorted by Mrs. William Wrigglesworth, district deputy marshal, Mrs. Herman Rice, district deputy president, paid her official visit to Ada Rebekah Lodge Tuesday evening, July 2.

After giving her instructions to the members, Mrs. Rice was presented with gifts from the lodge and the Stitching Club.

Hall and table decor of hearts and red roses carried out the president's theme of "Heart" and her chosen flower, the rose. Monte Estabrook sang her song, "The Bible Tells Me So" and "Garland of Old-fashioned Roses."

Mrs. Walter Silberbauer was in charge of decorations and tables; Mrs. Gladys Brook headed the refreshment committee.

Farnham Parents Celebrate Safe Fourth with Kids

Parents and faculty of Farnham School held a Fourth of July Celebration of their own to help eliminate fire and injury hazards to children of the district.

Under the sponsorship of the Farnham Home and School Club, a family supper was held in the school cafetorium and followed by a father and son baseball game and supervised fireworks display.

Al Vatuone, principal of Farnham, and William N. Gray captained the two baseball teams. Gray's team was winner of the game with a score 14 to 8.

The celebration was planned by a committee headed by Mrs. Rowena Cavala. She was assisted by Mrs. Buck Sanders, Tony Cavala, Ted Russell, Al Vatuone, Milt Sugerman, and Lee Hansen. Parents of children attending Farnham were reminded of the event by a telephone committee.

Dads in charge of the firework displays were Milt Sugerman, Ted Russell, Tony Cavala, Al Vatuone, and Col. Buck Sanders, president of the Home and school club. At the close of the display, children were given sparklers to wind up the evening's entertainment.

Camp Wastahi and Camp Fire News

Back home after a week at Camp Wastahi, and bubbling over with enthusiasm, is Diane Rhode, a member of Naomi James' Happy Blue Bird Group. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanis Rhode of Harrison Ave.

Diane reports she had a wonderful time on her first camping trip and even enjoyed helping with camp chores. She helped feed the animals in the small zoo, rode the camp burro, went on daily hikes, and brought home a basket made in a craft class.

—o—

Pat Rappe, counselor at Camp Wastahi and daughter of the B. C. Rappes on Rosemary Lane, dropped in on her parents Monday for a brief visit. Pat was escorting a group of young campers home from Camp Wastahi and returning to camp with a new group.

—o—

Included in the returning campers were two Luta Camp Fire Girls, Carol Johnson and Joyce Price, who said they had swimming lessons every morning, enjoyed cook-outs and all the other facilities of the camp.

—o—

On a recent Saturday in June, Luta Camp Fire Girls went on an "Over-night" and "Cook-out" to Saratoga Springs. While there the girls cooked their breakfast on "hobo" stoves made of tin cans, hiked, cooked their dinner in aluminum foil and made bread on a stick.

On Sunday, their families joined them for a potluck picnic and played games planned by the girls.

Weekend campers were Karen Davidson, Bonnie Cahill, Gloria Carpenter, Martha Bradshaw, Carol Baldwin, Cynthia Brett, Nancy Ellison, Joanne Freitas, Eugenia Oeser, Ingrid Anderson, Melanie Gadsby, Joyce Price, Diane Sather, Cathy West, Bonnie Rappe, Tony Hatt, Carol Johnson and Mary Kay Barker.

Mesdames Raymond Carpenter and Connie Bradshaw, sponsors of hte group, were assisted by Luta Horizon Club girls, Pat Rappe, Joanne Brusin, and Florence Edwards.

The group ended their Camp Fire year with a ceremonial for honor beads at the home of Mrs. Bradwshaw on Jane Ann Way and then presented each leader with a plant.

—o—

Luta Horizon Club girls, all of whom graduated from Campbell High in June, recently carried out a year-long ambition. After saving their money for a year, the girls went to San Francisco on an overnight trip.

While there they stayed at the Hotel Senate, dined at Omar Khayyam's where they followed the Armenian break-bread ceremony and ate Armenian food, went shopping, saw the stage play "Match-Makers" at the Geary Theater, did more shopping, and dined at Fishermen's Wharf before returning home.

Those making the trip were Sue Koester, Joanne Brusin, Pat Rappe, Janet Meckler, Elaine Mayer, Suzanne Burrows, Florence Edwards, Mrs. Joseph Meckler, sponsor, and Mrs. Michael Brusin.

—o—

Susan Koester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koester is known as Miss Sue at Camp Wastahi where she is a Blue Bird Counselor. Sue helps the Blue Birds with their craft work and is also co-editor of the Wastahi news. Her ambition is to be a reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle. She plans to attend San Jose State College next fall.

Selling the NEW Campbell

Our community during recent years has been gradually changing its looks. For the better, we might add.

Many of us who live here probably don't recognize that a transformation of any great scope has been taking place. One of those cases, as it were where we can't see forest for the trees.

All of us are agreed, however, that there is much to be done before Campbell can take its rightful place as one of the more attractive cities in the county. But no one can deny, if he bothers to look around, that great strides have been taken in recent years toward that goal.

The sad part of it is that many who live outside the community and who have not bothered to visit Campbell in recent years are still laboring under the delusion that our city is rundown-at-the-heels . . . All over, that is.

We think that we all could do a little missionary work in this field by calling attention to these misinformed people that Campbell has changed a great deal from what they have pictured.

There are many new and attractive homes. Large tracts have been filled during the last few years and more are building all the time.

There have been shopping centers constructed and more are planned and much has been done in recent months to improve the appearances of some of the older stores.

A case in point is the face-lifting operation that has been undertaken by William Lloyd and his affiliated companies in downtown Campbell. And the face-lifting is going to continue.

Those die-hards who haven't been around for a while should take a look at the remodeling jobs that Lloyd has done to the old store buildings on Campbell Avenue. We think those stores with their entrances from both Campbell Avenue and from the parking lot (another improvement) need not take a big seat to any stores of comparative size.

Plans are under way also to improve the other stores in the same block.

The new American Trust Company building at Second and Campbell on which construction has been started will be another attractive addition — right across the street is the new store building of Tony Raffanti's housing the Campbell Sports and Liquor Store. Soon the new Campbell post office will be built at First and Campbell.

So you see improvements are being made constantly.

There has been a boom in apartment house building in Campbell and some of the new mutliple dwelling units compare favorably with those that other cities, much larger, have to offer.

All in all much progress is being made. There is much more to do, we agree.

Changing the looks of an old community appreciably is at its best a long, hard pull.. It is much easier on the planners and everyone else when a new community springs out of an orchard. The impact is much less when the transition is over a long period of time and old buildings instead of only trees are involved.

The Press has tried to hammer home time and time again the point that progress IS being made. Improvements are taking place.

But miracles can not be expected to happen overnight.

We have said before and we repeat that Campbell, in a way, is in a very fortunate position because there is so much yet to be done before those of us with community and civic pride will be satisfied with the results.

We maintain it is much better to have objectives and work toward them than it is to have it all handed to one. One appreciates more when one has to work for them.

In complimenting Campbell on the improvements that have been made we are not trying to hide our head in the sand as an ostrich and avoid the seamy side of the town.

We do have a seamy side. Let's not forget it.

But that is not the NEW Campbell and we resent the snide characters on the outside who have formed the opinion that all Campbell is shabby; that Campbell is only an overgrown California "okieville"; that everything is run-down in Campbell.

They just haven't been around lately.

We invite these "Doubting Thomases" to take a trip through the real Campbell and see what has been done, what is being done and what is planned for the future.

In the meantime we can all do a better job of "selling the NEW Campbell."

Good reading for local merchants is the recent check warning bulletin issued by the Campbell police and distributed by the Chamber of Commerce under the direction of Mrs. Emily McConnell, merchant's committee chairman, and Sam Cava, C. of C. manager.

The bulletin contained brief description of five individuals who had been known to have passed worthless checks in the area.

In addition there was this ominous warning in another paragraph:

"This department (police) also hold warrants or wants for several other forgers and bum check passers who are believed to have left this area."

—o—

In most cases, we learned from thte local cops, these bum-check writing operations are "pro" jobs. In very few of the instances reported is it an accident or error that has caused these checks to bounce thereby sticking the merchant.

The police have cautioned local merchants continually to watch out for these bum-check passers but the flow of bum checks continues despite the warnings.

"It is well to note that in most cases check passers are apprehended," the bullettin concludes, "by the cooperation received from merchants in the smaller towns who take the time to obtain operators license and vehicle license information from persons unknown to them attempting to pass checks, both personal and payroll type."

We appreciate the problems faced by the merchants in their endeavor to do all the business they can, take due precautions in the cashing of checks and, at the same time, avoid offending the legitimate customer who wants to cash either his payroll or personal check.

It is pretty difficult to reconcile all the factors involved.

Most of the complaints on the bad checks end up in the hands of Officer Dick Mayne of the Campbell police who acts as investigator for the department.

He told us that one of the men described in the bulletin who had operated in this area was rated as one of the "most-wanted" check passers in the country. The guy operates so smoothly that he has never been caught and has left a trail of bad checks across the country.

—o—

Dick said that in police circles the man is known as "The Traveler", for he has been reported to have crossed the country 27 times. The police have a pretty fair composite description of the man. He is supposed to be between 40 and 50 years, 5'7", 145 to 160 pounds, light brown or greying hair, combed straight back and thinning, light complexion, soft spoken, pleasant manner and sometimes wears glasses.

The bulletin further points out that the suspect has been known to travel "with a well-groomed blonde woman, approximately 40 years of age." The guy has been known to use the names of P. J. McNeil, John R. Anderson, William Harmon and, in this area, Richard L. Case.

His "M.O." (we've watched Sgt. Friday on Dragnet, too) has generally been the same wherever he has been. He trades at a local store until he becomes acquainted, paying cash for his purchases.

Then he strikes.

He comes in with what he reports to be his payroll check (In Campbell it was a San Jose manufacturing firm's payroll check) and the damage is done. He follows the same procedure in a number of stores before taking off again on his cross-country jaunt.

The "payroll" checks, of course, turn out to be pretty fair forgeries, good enough for the average merchant to pass without too much question. But Dick said there were several flaws in the checks which were discovered when compared to the real article.

For example the check number was on the wrong side and it was in a different color.

—o—

Another listing in the bulletin was a passer of counterfeit money orders drawn on the First Western Bank of San Francisco. Police report that the latest passer of these money orders is a member of a gang operating in the Bay Area.

The passer, in this case, shows an operator's license, a draft card and a California Physicians' Service card for identification.

"These checks look very good, the police warn, "and you are cautioned that this operator is very smart, having taken Bay Area merchants for $8,000 since April of this year."

—o—

Others listed in the bulletin include individuals known to be passing personal checks that are no good, ranging from $3 to $35. A couple of the suspects are local residents who have decided to take the "easy way" to get dough.

Fortunately in most cases the easy way ends up disastrously for the bum check-passer. But the merchant still loses his dough, even when the passer may be behind the bars.

—o—

All this was revealing to us. We had no idea that the passing of bad checks was so extensive.

We have long been familiar with the traditional "NSF" that the bank puts on checks where there isn't enough dough to cover but we had no idea that forging of checks had developed into such a racket.

Over the Years

By John D. Blaine

Over the years banking facilitites have been provided Campbell in four different locations. All four are still available for historic interest and a fifth is coming up.

We begin with putting Guy E. Farley on the spot. He can't get away from the fact that the brick building bearing his business name housed the first Campbell bank. In that neat brick building I had my first experience with a real bank.

The cashier and manager was John F. Duncan, in my opinion the most popular Campbell business man of his day. When I first knew him in the bank he served patrons alone. He was tall, good looking, and friendly, one of the easiest men to approach I ever knew.

The institution was then called The Bank of Campbell. In a previous column I said it paid its stockholders 16 per cent on their investment from the first year. It did business largely on faith in character. This faith paid off.

In that previous column I said this bank ran 22 years without voluntarily foreclosing on a single mortgage or losing a dollar on a local business man. So I was told by Mr. Duncan, whose keen insight into character had much to do with this astonishing record.

Perhaps you are itching to see a date. In a souvenir book of 1895 before me is a picture of the bank with a text saying it was established in that year. President was Samuel T. Cooper and cashier was Frederick W. Reinig. These two were partners.

Very soon Cooper & Reinig gave place to The Bank of Campbell, Cooper remained as president but John Duncan was made cashier. Cooper was by reputation a man of iron. I heard John Duncan say many times that without the iron of Samuel Cooper the success of the bank would not have been possible.

Success of the bank makes us jump diagonally across the street to the store of George (Dobie) Jeffers. Why should a clothing store have so much structural class? Why those high arched side windows? Why that fancy cornice? Why the high ceiling inside?

The explanation is that this store was our second bank building. Here John Duncan as manager had his personal desk directly at the entrance on the right. He looked up from his work every time the door opened. Every patron, old or new, received the manager's friendly welcome.

Our next move in following the bank is most amazing. Do you know where Campbell Theater is? It's next to our present bank, overshadowing it in comparison. Well that magnificent empty structure was once our bank.

Briefly Campbell had a competing bank, The Growers' National Bank of Campbell. Its promoters naturally wanted to outdo the other bank in looks, and they did. Any time you think of it pause to look at that classical edifice. It is worth your admiration.

The Grower's National Bank faded out and the old bank took over its business and moved down there. In looks our bank building had reached real tops in two moves.

Meanwhile Bank of Campbell had merged with Mercantile Trust Company, a county chain with headquarters in San Jose. Mr. Duncan went from Campbell to be manager at the head office in San Jose.

Presently the Mercantile Trust Company merged with the American Trust Company, a large chain with headquarters in San Francisco. It was thus that our original Campbell bank became a unit in a large branch banking system.

To our amazement, astonishment, frustration, agony, or what have you that you don't want, business policy led American Trust Company to drop the Campbell unit. We Campbell folk were left to scatter our banking between Santa Clara, San Jose, and Los Gatos.

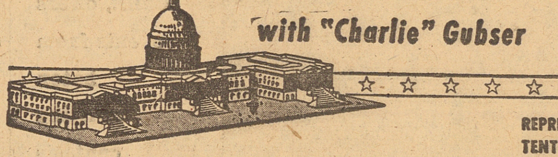
To put it mildly, we were not too happy.

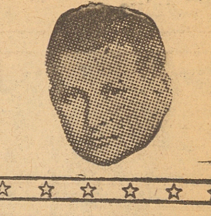
After years of our groaning, moaning, pleading, knee bending and what not the American Trust restored our Campbell unit in the modest quarters we now sort out from among stores. We know where we are when we see in the window that human bit of chain lightning on the typewriter, Eileen Cowdery.

As I write these lines forms are out for the foundation of our fifth bank habitation. After 62 years from our first bank we shall see what we shall see.

I'm glad to see our bank raising the price of all its services. If it pays perhaps it won't be taken away from us again.

ON CAPITOL HILL





with "Charlie" Gubser

REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS
TENTH DISTRICT, CALIFORNIA

This week I thought I'd write a few anecdotes on some of the colorful and unusual things which happen on Capitol Hill:

—o—

Mr. W. O'Malley, President and General Manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers was as cagey on the witness stand before a Congressional Committee as his players are clever at Ebbetts Field. Asked why he was considering moving the "Bums" from Brooklyn to Los Angeles he replied that lack of a modern ballpark and parking facilities made such consideration necessary. Chairman Celler (a New Yorker) thought he had a real curve ball when he confronted O'Malley with the information that New York had offered to build a 5000 car parking garage near the park. The ex-lawyer turned clubowner evidently knows how to hit curve balls because in a flash he came back with, "Yes, but it would take three hours to fill, and three hours and fifteen minutes to empty it—not much time left for the ball game!"

—o—

I shouldn't make predictions but it is a safe bet that we'll make "Angels" out of the "Bums" by next season. Brooklyn will move to Los Angeles and play in the most modern park in the nation. The New York Giant's move to San Francisco isn't as sure but chances are very bright.

—o—

The House Radio Correspondents Bulletin Board carries this quip: "One day as I sat musing, sad and lonely and without a friend, a voice came to me from out of the gloom and said 'Cheer up, things could be worse.'—I cheered up and sure enough, things did get worse."

—o—

Washington D. C. version of the King's English: The Federal Communications Commission in a recent release "invited comments on proposals that the Commission authorize the use of frequencies allocated to television broadcasting for the transmission of programs in scrambled, unintelligible form under proposed systems calling for the payment of a charge by the viewer for the reception of such programs in unscrambled, intelligible form."

—o—

Unscrambling unintelligible government gobbledygook takes a lot of our time, so much so that the Civil Service Commission now has a program aimed at simplifying government responses to letters from private citizens. I'm all for it!

—o—

Two brothers, one a lobbyist for a public power authority and the other a representative of a private electrical utility happened to be on the same side of an issue recently. Since both brothers have repeatedly bid against one another for the right to purchase falling water from government dams for the purpose of generating electricity, one legislator was prompted to ask why they were together on this one. The answer is classic, "You know, Senator, blood is thicker than water—unless it's falling water!"

Knight Signs Controversial State Aid for Schools Measure into Law

Capitol News Service

One of the major and most controversial bills of the 1957 legislature, increasing the amount of state aid for public schools by $36,915,853 in the next fiscal year, has been signed into law by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

The bill, AB3045 by Assemblyman Ernest R. Geddes (R-Claremont), will result in a cost to the state of about $40 million in the 1958-59 fiscal year and will continue to increase each year.

The measure, sponsored by the California Teachers Association lobby had a hectice course in the legislature. Originally, it would have cost about $75 million in its first year, to be financed with a three-cent cigaret tax and increased beer taxes.

Within a very short time, however, it became apparent that the legislature would not approve the new tax program and Knight announced he would not sign the bill without new and continuing revenues. An amendment that would have wired the Geddes bill to the tax bills was in and out of the bill at various times but finally was removed, once and for all, by the senate Finance committee.

It was a sub-committee of this group that did the final doctoring job on the Geddes measure to reduce the added apportionment to the $37 million figure. Once the bill was cleared by both houses of the legislature, Knight indicated he would sign it, even though there were no new taxes to support it.

Capitol observers could not agree whether the reduced amount represented a defeat for the powerful CTA lobby or whether that amount was all that had been expected and the higher figure was introduced only as a bargaining wedge.

In any event, the CTA's chief lobbyist, Robert McKay, said the amount filled only a portion of the need and his group would be back at the earliest opportunity for the rest of the needed funds.

The Geddes bill, which takes effect immediately, has as one key feature the increase in minimum salaries of teachers from $3,400 to $4,200 a year. Cost of the measure is met by transfers from the Bond Retirement Fund of some $15 million, a special deposit in the Teachers Retirement Fund of some $37 million; and general fund expenditures of $8,240,000 in 1957-58 and and about $16 million in 1958-59.

It will increase the state apportionment for each Average Daily Attendance from $180 to $193.37, with larger increases to poorer districts. The bill also makes an increase for the physically handicapped and mentally retarded programs of about $4 million.

Rev. H. J. O'Day Heads Catholic Social Service

The Rev. Harold J. O'Day, executive director of Catholic Social Service of Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties, has been relieved of his duties in San Mateo to enable him to devote full time to meeting the needs of Santa Clara County.

The change was made possible by Archbishop Mitty who recognized the continued growth of Santa Clara County and constant increase in demand for the services of the local agency.

Corresponding with his new assignment, Father O'Day's residence has been transferred to St. Leo's Church in San Jose.

Father O'Day served as executive director of Catholic Social Service for the two counties from July, 1948, to July, 1955, when he was succeeded by the late Father Robert W. McDonald.

During the period in which he served both counties, Father O'Day was credited with modernizing the Catholic Social Services Agencies and establishing operating procedures which enabled the agencies to provide the necessary facilities and personnel to meet the unprecedented demand for their services in recent years.

In 1955 Father O'Day was appointed assistant to the Rev. Frederick A. Cook; pastor of St. John Vianney Church in San Jose.

Following the death of Father McDonald in February of this year, Father O'Day resumed his association with the agencies in Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties.

Juvenile Drinkers Face Crackdown Under New Law

Capitol News Service

California may be in for the biggest crackdown on juvenile drinkers since the prohibition of liquor was lifted 25 years ago.

The stepped-up enforcement could come through legislation approved by the 1957 legislature, which will take effect in September if Gov. Goodwin J. Knight signs the bills, as expected.

For the first time, a good portion of the penalty in such cases will be placed on the juvenile himself. Under present law, a liquor licensee faces disciplinary action if he is found to have sold alcoholic beverages to a minor or permitted him to consume.

But under terms of AB1961 and 1962 by Assemblyman Caspar W. Weinberger (R-San Francisco), a fine of at least $100 shall be imposed if:

A minor enters an establishment licensed to sell alcoholic beverages without lawful business;

A minor uses identification which does not bear his true age for purposes of purchasing alcoholic beverages;

A minor possesses an identification card with an age other than his own true age on it;

A persons sells or furnishes a minor with such a false identification card.

Final action on the Weinberger came during the final days of the session and, because of the press of other business, little notice or attention was given to them.

Another bill which makes a fairly vital change in the alcoholic beverage industry is one which will permit licensees accused of violations for which suspensions of license for 30 days or less are ordered to make a cash settlement. The licensee could pay 20 per cent of the gross business during the time of the suspension.
